

LEE DALE SHEDS TEARS AS JUDGE GIVES SENTENCE

Young Man Will Serve a Life Term in State Penitentiary for Murdering Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ogilvy.

MAINTAINS HIS INNOCENCE

Only Statement He Makes As Court Pronounces Doom Is That He Is Not Guilty of the Crime—Prisoner's Wife Sits Beside Him As Life Sentence Is Pronounced.

Lee Dale, convicted slayer of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ogilvy, was this morning at 10 o'clock sentenced by Judge Phelps to the state penitentiary for the rest of his natural life. It was the only sentence provided by law for the crime of second degree murder. Dale is 35 years old.

Dale exhibited more emotion this morning than at any time since the case was brought before the court. When the court asked him if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed, he answered, "No, I guess not, only that I am not guilty," and his lips quivered as they framed the words. He was also visibly shaken when Judge Phelps spoke of the misery and unhappiness which his act had caused and, when he left the court room, there were tears in his eyes.

Will M. Peterson, his counsel, spoke only a few words in his behalf. He expressed a great sympathy for the defendant because he said he believed his story that he had no remembrance of having shot Mr. and Mrs. Ogilvy.

"It is hardly necessary for me to say that I regret the necessity of imposing sentence upon you," said Judge Phelps. "The most charitable view I can take of the case is to accept your story that you have no remembrance of having shot Mr. and Mrs. Ogilvy. If you were not responsible for your act then why was and under the law that is no excuse. There is nothing that I can say at this time that will lessen your sentence. I can not bring back the life that you took from those old people nor lighten the grief of their relatives. You have wrecked your own life and that of your wife. I can only advise you to obey the laws of the institution to which you are going and to make your peace with the future. At some time there might be executive clemency used in your behalf but that is not a matter for this court. I trust that others, seeing what alcohol has accomplished through you, may profit from your experience."

Dale's wife sat beside him this morning in court and preserved her self-control better than did he. There were twenty or thirty people in the court room when the sentence was passed.

MACCABEES TO HOLD THEIR NEXT SESSION IN THE GARDEN CITY

WALLA WALLA REVIEW WILL BE HOSTS AT SEMI-ANNUAL GATHERING IN MAY.

The Woman's Benefit association of the Maccabees concluded its three day session here this afternoon at 2 o'clock when the delegates gathered at the Hotel Pendleton to finish up a few remaining details in the business of the organization.

One of the important matters decided upon yesterday was the plan to hold semi-annual rallies instead of annual ones as heretofore. In accordance with this plan, the delegates accepted the invitation of Garden City Review No. 48 of Walla Walla to hold the next gathering in that city on May 5 and 6.

The second day's session was full of activity for the busy delegates. The school of instruction under the direction of Deputy Supreme Commander Mrs. Minnie W. Aydelotte was the first order of business for yesterday morning's meeting, and at noon a luncheon was served by a committee in charge of Mrs. Dave Rogers. In the afternoon there were initiatory exercises and the transaction of the regular business.

An announcement was then made by Mrs. Aydelotte of the appointment of Mrs. Zable Cross of the La Grande Review, No. 27, as district deputy commander for eastern Oregon.

Rounding out the day was a theater party given in the evening, the delegates attending the Alta where they enjoyed seeing William Faver-

OLSON AND JOHNSON SECURE CONTRACT TO BUILD NEW LIBRARY

BID OF $31,500 IS ACCEPTED BY BOARD—WILL BE COMPLETED MARCH 1.

At a meeting of the Umatilla county library board held last evening, it was unanimously voted to let the contract for the county library to Olson and Johnson. The bids were opened as advertised at the meeting of the board held Monday evening, Oct. 4 but it was decided to give them further study before making choice of the contractor.

The lowest bid contained too many mistakes in the items to be considered. The other bidders were Olson and Johnson of Missoula, Mont., whose bid for the completed building was $31,500, Zoph Bros., $31,470, Harry Boyer of North Yakima, $31,987, and J. S. Winters of Portland, $32,800.

Folger Johnson, the Portland architect, arrived this morning and is arranging with the contractor and library board for the signing of the contract.

Olson and Johnson are now in Pendleton building the new wing of the Eastern Oregon State Hospital and, with all their forms and machinery on the ground, assure the board that they could begin the concrete work within twenty-four hours if excavation was ready for them.

They can push the work rapidly and will have the building ready for occupancy by March first if not earlier.

Contractors Appreciate Work. That the firm of Olson & Johnson appreciate the honor shown in granting them the contract on the library building and will reciprocate by erecting a first class building in every respect is stated by E. D. Nell, Jr., local superintendent for the firm.

Wilson Will Wed in December Mrs. Norman Galt, Bride-to-be Wedding to be Quiet Affair

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The wedding of the president and Mrs. Norman Galt, whose engagement was announced last night, will be held at the Galt home probably early in December and will be extremely quiet. The White House announced today. The White House is literally swamped with congratulatory messages for the president. From every corner of the land came the nation's expressions of happiness, wishing him much joy. High officials joined obscure citizens in felicitating the chief executive.

Mrs. Galt is a charming widow, 38, strikingly handsome, with a keen, intellectual mind. "I'm very happy," was all Mrs. Galt would say concerning the engagement announcement.

"All else has been said at the White House," she explained. Mrs. Galt's telephone tinkled all day with calls of friends, extending congratulations, while many persons visited her in person. The wedding date, she said, had not been set, though the ceremony will be at her home in December.

Mrs. Galt has taken an interest in suffrage recently, but never committed herself an opinion "in her own." Some significance was seen in the fact the president made an announcement of his stand for suffrage and the engagement announcement on the same day.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—When Mrs. Galt becomes Mrs. Woodrow Wilson in December, the White House will have as the first lady an American Indian princess by descent who can rightfully lay claim to having "royal blood in her veins," the blood of Pocahontas. The president's bride-to-be is proud of the fact she is a descendant in the ninth generation of the Indian heroine who wedded John Rolfe, the Jamestown, Virginia, colonist, after she had saved the life of Captain John Smith.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—President Wilson will leave tomorrow for New York, accompanied by his fiancée, Mrs. Norman Galt, his cousin, Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, Dr. Grayson and Secretary Tumulty, to attend a house party given by the president's friend, Colonel House.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—President Davidson of the San Diego exposition, here today, asked President Wilson to attend the exposition. It is regarded as possible the president might go to California on his honeymoon.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Woodrow Wilson, the president of the United States, announced last night his engagement to Mrs. Norman Galt of Washington.

The brief announcement from the White House made by Secretary Tumulty came as a surprise to official Washington, but to several intimate friends it has long been expected. From this circle came the story of a friendship whose culmination was viewed as a happy turn in the troubled and lonely life of the nation's chief executive.

Acquaintance Through Daughter. It was Miss Margaret Wilson and her cousin, Miss Bones, who drew Mrs. Galt into the White House. They met her first in the early autumn of last year and were so much attracted by her that they sought her out more and more frequently and the friendship between them ripened into an affectionate intimacy.

Bride-to-be About 38. Mrs. Galt is the widow of a widely known business man of Washington, who died about eight years ago, leaving a jewelry business that still bears his name. She has lived in Washington since her marriage in 1896. She is about 38 years old and was Miss Edith Bolling, born in Wytheville, Va., where her girlhood was spent and where her father, William H. Bolling, was a prominent lawyer.

In the circle of people who have known Mrs. Galt for many years she has been regarded as an unusual beauty, gifted with a natural charm. Friends spoke of her as being constantly sought out as a delightful companion, remarking especially on her thoughtfulness and quick capacity for anything she chose to undertake.

Tastes Like Those of Mr. Wilson. For many weeks Mrs. Galt and her relatives have been frequent dinner guests at the White House. Often she has accompanied the president on motor rides. She is not quite as tall as Mr. Wilson, has dark hair and dark eyes and always is in stylish attire. Her tastes are said to be strikingly similar to those of the president, with a deep interest in literature and charity work.

With the marriage of his two daughters and the death of Mrs. Wilson, more than a year ago, the president's life has become one of solitude. His absorption in official labors began to tell on him physically when a few months ago he began to take a renewed interest in personal affairs, his friends and members of the family welcomed the distinct change which it brought about in his health and spirits.

Formal Announcement Is Made. Last night—at the end of a busy day for the president, during which he announced that he would vote for woman suffrage, took a firm position in favor of national defense and received several callers—Mrs. Galt was a dinner guest at the White House. At the moment when Secretary Tumulty stood in the executive office announcing the engagement to a large number of Washington correspondents who had been summoned for the occasion, the president and Mrs. Galt were passing the evening with Dr. Cary Grayson and Miss Bones in the White House parlors.

The news was given out in a brief statement, which read:

"The announcement was made today of the engagement of Mrs. Norman Galt, of this city, and President Woodrow Wilson."

SECOND LINE GERMAN DEFENSE FAST WEAKENING

French Artillery Pouring an Incessant Fire Into the Trenches of the Kaiser in Flanders.

RETREAT IS BELIEVED NEAR

Teutons Cannot Long Endure Bombardment. It Is Claimed—French Troops Take Tahure With Slight Losses—Victory Regarded As Important in Deciding Result.

PARIS, Oct. 7.—The heavy and incessant artillery firing for the past few days has worn down the German resistance in Champagne, according to dispatches. The second line of the Teuton trenches is crumbling beneath the shells. Indications point to a German retreat along a wide front. The French capture of Tahure, and Tahure Heights, with comparatively slight losses, was reported in last night's communique. French guns blotted out the redoubtable trenches and stone bridges concealing the enemy's guns. A few regiments stormed the remaining works and routed the German occupants with the bayonet.

The Tahure victory is one of the most important successes since the initial drive in Champagne swept the Germans from the first line defenses. The east with which the capture was effected convinces experts that the Bazancourt-Challerange railway, less than two miles from the French advanced works, will be pierced within a fortnight. For some time the French have been aiming at this goal, a highly strategic point because of its value to the Germans as a means of transporting supplies.

BERLIN, Oct. 7.—An official statement admitted the French attacks in the Champagne region had driven the Teutons from Tahure, but claimed elsewhere the French were repulsed.

PARIS, Oct. 7.—Four successive German attacks west of the Souchez-Ancre road were heavily repulsed, a communique announced. A heavy bombardment south of the Somme, north of the Aisne, around Tracy Le Val and St. Maré Forest, and the Andreville-Dancourt-Cannet sector was reported. Counter attacks by the Germans around Tahure, captured by the French, were thrown back.
